

Technology of Educating Cadets in the Spirit of Military Patriotism

U. A. Batirov

Academy Ministry of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Uzbekistan

Article Information

Received: March 11, 2023

Accepted: April 12, 2023

Published: May 13, 2023

Keywords:

ABSTRACT

Education plays an important role in the general pedagogical process. The formation of the personality of officers has the characteristics of management and control, and the tasks set in this regard are not solved by random actions, but on the basis of predetermined and well-thought-out plans. In the process of education, its purpose, form, means, aspects of self-education and re-education of the officers' personality take an important place.

Indeed the content of the educational process is determined based on the order of the social system, and certain conditions are required for its implementation. The role of the educational process in the development of society is incomparable. It is necessary to educate a person, to encourage him to learn, to work, and to gradually turn this behavior into a habit. Cultivating the ability to observe a person means cultivating the mind. This is also the basis for bringing out talents. Mind preserves consciousness, and consciousness becomes a material and spiritual resource. Any conscious person knows that appropriate education is necessary.

It is known that every person has an important decoration. It is the beauty of intelligence and manners in man. This beauty is an important spiritual basis for a person to find his place in life. This is a great opportunity for them to become role models in education. In this way, a person gradually improves and reaches perfection. A perfect person is a mature, complete, perfect, full-fledged, perfect, scholarly, wise, master, skillful, flower-hand, deep-minded, well-educated, moral person. a person who understands well that there are people who love him. There are many examples of this from history.

Personal education has been an urgent issue in any society, and the conscious population (intellectually competent generation) of that society has been concerned about its solutions. The promising solutions obtained according to them have been passed down from generation to generation, and some of them have received the appearance of education, wisdom and advice. Especially in this regard, it would be more impressive if the skills and talents of our scholars were shown in the education of young people.

So, there is no doubt that positive results can be obtained by using role models in the realization of lofty dreams of any society, community, society, and even individual people. This process is not only for young people, but also will be directed for adults.

Because the process of education is a value that is necessary from the birth of a person to the end of his life."

It is necessary to be armed with educational methods. Cadets of higher military educational institutions have a tendency to improve their knowledge, to work independently, to study. Sometimes this opportunity does not materialize due to a lack of aspiration, self-discipline, and experience. For example, the curricula of higher military educational institutions have many opportunities to provide cadets with knowledge and skills related to self-education from a spiritual and moral point of view.

Forming the habit of cadets to be able to evaluate the consequences of their behavior and behavior critically and seriously from the point of view of personal and community interests is an important stage of self-education.

In order for the work of self-education to be effective, first of all, it is necessary to have motivation, positive moral qualities in the cadets, to create the necessary conditions for the activity of boys and girls, and to establish a certain order for behavior. Self-education of cadets is to develop positive qualities in them and eliminate some existing negative qualities.

The cadets admitted to higher military educational institutions should prepare the "Cadets' Self-Education Program" in order to organize the independent work of future specialists and help them to self-educate. The first part of the program shows the personal qualities of the future specialist. Cadets of higher military educational institutions should cultivate and perfect these qualities during their studies. The second part shows the types of activities.

So, there is no doubt that positive results can be obtained by using role models in the realization of lofty dreams of any society, community, society, and even individual people. This process is not only for young people, but also for adults will be directed. Because the process of education is a value that is necessary from the birth of a person to the end of his life."

It is necessary to be armed with educational methods. Cadets of higher military educational institutions have a tendency to improve their knowledge, to work independently, to study. Sometimes this opportunity does not materialize due to a lack of aspiration, self-discipline, and experience. For example, the curricula of higher military educational institutions have many opportunities to provide cadets with knowledge and skills related to self-education from a spiritual and moral point of view.

Forming the habit of cadets to be able to evaluate the consequences of their behavior and behavior critically and seriously from the point of view of personal and community interests is an important stage of self-education.

In order for the work of self-education to be effective, first of all, it is necessary to have motivation, positive moral qualities in the cadets, to create the necessary conditions for the activity of boys and girls, and to establish a certain order for behavior. Self-education of cadets is to develop positive qualities in them and eliminate some existing negative qualities.

The cadets admitted to higher military educational institutions should prepare the "Cadets' Self-Education Program" in order to organize the independent work of future specialists and help them to self-educate. The first part of the program shows the personal qualities of the future specialist. Cadets of higher military educational institutions should cultivate and perfect these qualities during their studies. The second part shows the types of activities. As a result of doing them, the cadets develop these necessary qualities in themselves.

The first part of the program includes the songs. The social and economic development of a democratic legal state and a strong civil society based on the laws of the market economy, as well as the transition to a new content of education based on the "National Program of Personnel Training" - the introduction of new curricula and programs require a radical improvement of the quality of training of specialists in higher military educational institutions, the future spiritual, ideological and scientific experts further increasing its level requires strengthening psychological-pedagogical and methodical preparation.

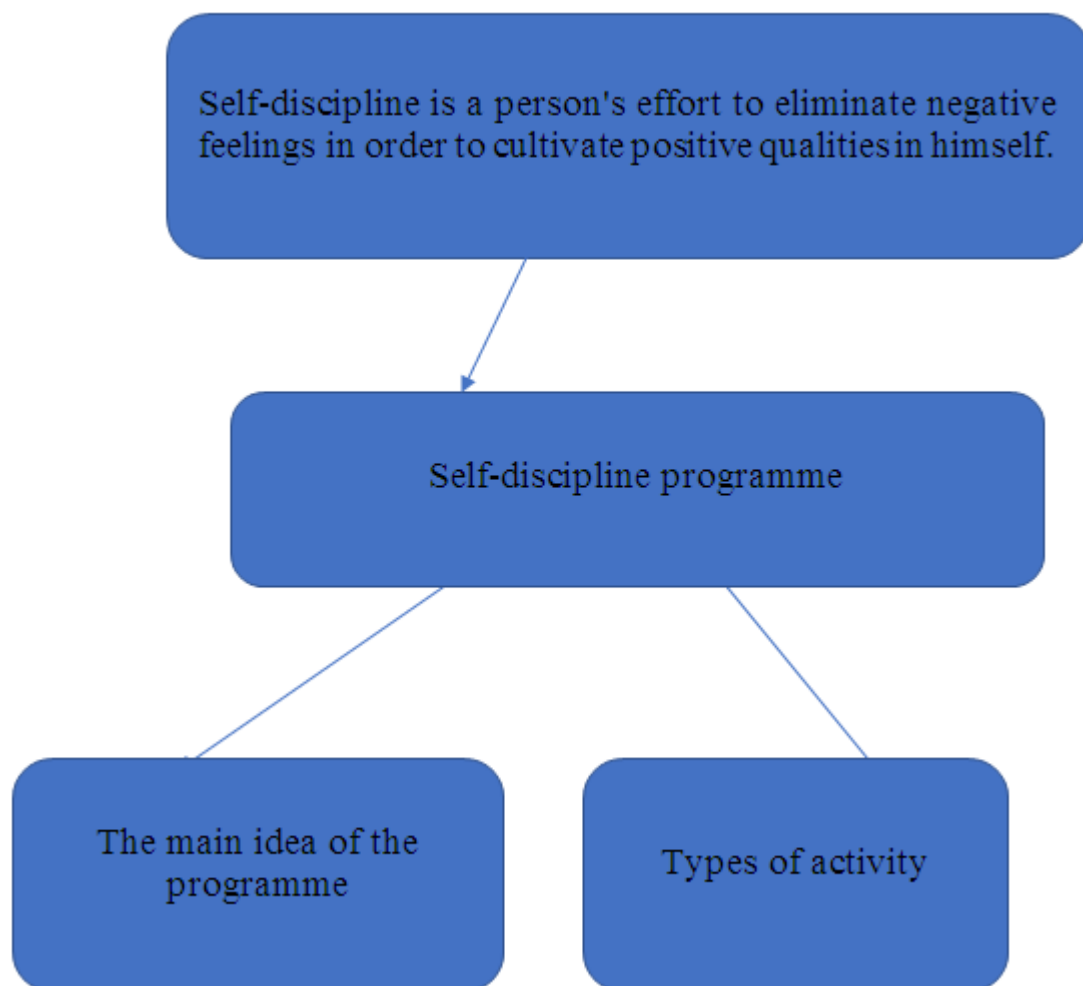

The introduction of new curricula and programs in higher military educational institutions, the publication of many literatures on national cultural talents, and the presence of highly qualified professors-teachers allow us to expect the work of educating young students from a spiritual, moral and professional point of view to a high level.

It is the main task of higher education institutions to gradually expand the scope of knowledge given to future specialists, to achieve thorough improvement of knowledge related to specialized subjects. At the same time, it is necessary for young specialists to acquire the habit of learning independently and regularly improving their knowledge.

- Physical training activities. To regularly engage in some kind of sport and specialty and to have combat training. Participate in combat training until graduation from the Higher Military Academy. Must engage in combat training and upgrade skills and always have military training.

Acquisition of necessary knowledge and skills in combat training. To learn how to organize houses and competitions in this field.

This program is recommended to cadets of higher military higher educational institutions for planning and organizing independent work. On this basis, a plan of work performed in the group is drawn up every year. Each cadet of the group prepares an individual plan for a year and a semester, depending on his abilities and opportunities. The program will serve as a basis for drawing up the conditions of the contest organized for the best group.

Such a program is a socio-humanitarian one that students should acquire. specialization, professional-pedagogical knowledge and skills, spiritual-ethical qualities will be embodied in the students. At the same time, it serves to increase the self-education tasks and mobilize the student to complete these tasks and activities.

Thus, one of the important factors of self-education in the future is the balance between the personal abilities and capabilities of the specialist and the requirements of professional activity.

REFERNCES

1. Markova A.K. Psixologicheskiy analiz professionalnoy kompetentnosti uchitelya / /Sovetskaya pedagogika. 1990.№8.
2. PetrovskayaL.A. Kompetentnostvobucheni. Sotsialno-psixologicheskiytrening – M.: Izd-voMGU, 1989. – 216 s.
3. Saydalieva N.F. Chet Tillarini O’qitishda Kommunikativ Yondashuv //Oriental renaissance: Innovative, educational, natural and social sciences. – 2022. – T. 2. – №. Special Issue 20. – S. 275-281.
4. I.A.Zimnyaya “Psixologicheskiye aspekti i obucheniye govoreniyu na inostrannom yazika” kniga dlya uchiteley// I.A.Zimnyaya-2 Izdaniya-Moskva- Prosvsheniye 1985-160 p;
5. S.Usmonov. Umumiy tilshunoslik. T., 1972.